THERMAL COAL MARKETS

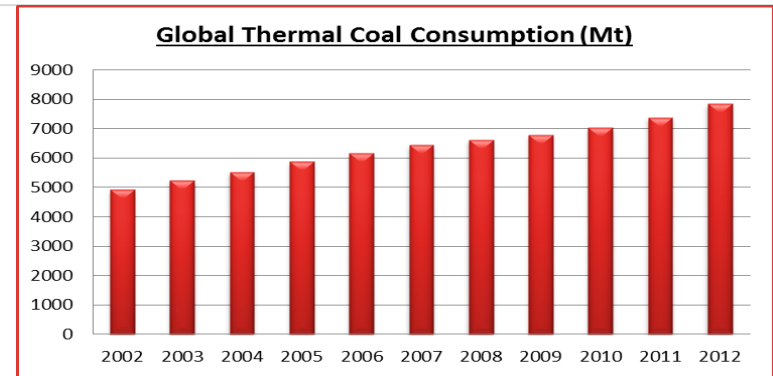

NEW HOPE
GROUP

COAL DEMAND

Market Context

Demand

- ❖ Global thermal coal consumption has grown from 4.9Bt to 7.8Bt in the 10 year period from 2002 – 2012 (CAGR 4.6%)
- ❖ Over this time Asia more than doubled its consumption accounting for all of the global growth
- ❖ Chinese coal consumption has increased by 2.6x over this time and is now over 4Btpa
- ❖ India has doubled its coal consumption over this time and now consumes over 700Mtpa
- ❖ Coal is the preferred fuel for electricity generation in Asia due to both availability and economics – China and India both currently generate over 75% of their electricity from coal

COAL SUPPLY

Market Context

Supply

- ❖ The vast majority of global thermal coal is supplied from domestic sources
- ❖ Seaborne traded coal however has a strong position in the global coal supply mix due largely to quality and supply certainty
- ❖ Seaborne thermal coal trade has more than doubled in the last 10 years to around 930Mtpa
- ❖ Indonesia accounts for around 42% of global seaborne thermal coal supply (~400Mt) with Australia supplying around 21% (~200Mt)
- ❖ Indonesia has increased supply by ~50Mt in the last 12 months, predominantly lower energy coals destined for China and India
- ❖ Australia increased its thermal coal supply by 18Mt or about 12% last year

Oversupply Challenge

COAL PRICE

Market Context

Price

- ❖ Thermal coal prices have been in decline since the start of 2011 due to a combination of new supply and weakening growth in China
- ❖ It is estimated that approximately 20% of Australian thermal coal mines are currently operating at negative cash margins
- ❖ Global average cash margins for seaborne thermal coal exports are currently estimated to be around US$8/t – compared with average cash margins of around US$25/t in the preceding 5 years
- ❖ Very few Australian thermal coal mines are currently making an accounting profit
- ❖ Supply availability is being perpetuated by market distorting infrastructure contracts i.e. take or pay

SOURCE: GlobalCoal, Matsu Advisory

MARKET OUTLOOK

- Seaborne thermal coal markets will remain oversupplied for some time
- However current pricing levels are unsustainable in the longer term and are stimulating change
- China is taking action to reduce domestic supply and concurrently reduce imports of other than premium coals
- Indonesian exports have plateaued in tonnage and reduced in energy equivalent terms
- The future direction of the Australian dollar will have an immediate material affect on revenues
- The long term future for the Australian export thermal coal market remains solid
